

Luke Wood

Profile

Full-stack web and software developer with a strong passion for technology, recently awarded a Bachelor's degree in Computer Science with First-Class Honours. I have hands-on professional experience in HTML, CSS, JavaScript, jQuery, PHP, and object-oriented languages such as C# within .NET and Java, while working within agile environments, along with proficiency in Git version control. My portfolio includes exciting projects such as a professional website for a local accountancy firm and the development of an AI-driven eLearning platform. I thrive in dynamic environments and eager to contribute to innovative projects that push technological boundaries. My goal is to collaborate with like-minded professionals and deliver impactful solutions through both front-end and back-end development.
